The permit application must address "all abandoned wells and drill holes".

Mark,

Please see Chester's comment below concerning tabulation or mapping of abandoned wells and boreholes. There is a map showing all cbm wells and one oil and gas well in the section. Do you know if LQD has any documentation of Intent to Explore by Drilling within that state section? We can include your question as an additional comment if you feel it is warranted.

Section 13.7.9 Mineral Resources, mentions that permit area is within the Pumpkin Buttes Uranium Mining District and the current mineral lessee (William Sheriff). They also state that there is no current uranium exploration or development activities taking place within the permit area. That was all I found in the R&D permit. I still believe the LQD would have some documentation (e.g., Notification of Intent to Explore by Drilling) in their files if any of the uranium companies did any drilling in the section.

DEQ Linc 000148

I have concerns regarding the potential for inadequately sealed abandoned wells and exploration drill holes proximate to the proposed gas generator. While researching the permit application, I was unable to find where the applicant has reported or provided a "reasonable inspection" of the property and "investigation" of public records to identify all (i.e., oil, gas, water, coal, uranium, etc.) historical abandoned wells and drillholes. {reference : LQD Coal R&R, Ch. 18, Sec. 3(b)(xi)}

Can you point me to a tabulation and a map of these abandoned wells and drill holes?

Muthu and DEQ Project Staff;

Attached are MS Word and pdf copies of Lidstone and Associates, Inc.'s third round of review comments pertaining to Linc Energy's responses to the second round of completeness and technical review comments for the Gassifier 6 R & D permit application TFN 5 5/128. Please review these responses and forward any additional comments to Muthu and me. Please call Chris Lidstone or me if you have any questions concerning these documents. Please return your final comments to us by end of business on Friday December 7th. We have committed to providing Linc with the response document on Tuesday December 11th. Thank you in advance for your attention to this tight schedule.
