To Whom It May Concern:

I recently attended a symposium at the UW Art Museum (Sept. 28-29) where the Red Desert was the focus. I learned about the numerous insects and animals that the desert sustains, and I was moved by the photographs of this beautiful area of our state. I believe Adobe Town is a unique area to our state — to our country, and it is worthy to be designated as such.

Please protect it by designating it as a Very Rare and Uncommon Area.

Sincerely,

Mollie Steinke
